PRECISION DOWN TO THE SMALLEST COMPONENT

Willo Maskin is one of the leading supplier of small, complex components to leading, high-tech industries with high demands on precision and quality.

Willo Maskin was founded in 1956 by Willy Loeffel. He brought a spirit of enterprise, technique and a feeling for quality with him from his homeland, Switzerland. The company expanded and received more and more complex and advanced assignments from defense, packaging and other industries.

Today, Willo has developed into a cutting edge company within metal processing. Willo is still to be found in the same location where the company originally started.
